

... can also improve an expert system by returning the expert system some problems. ... important form of apprenticeship learning, which is usually referred to as learning by doing, but is beyond the scope of this paper. The reader interested in further details is referred to (Wilkins, 1987).

